Effective January 1, 2023, California's overtime rate for ag employees working for employers who employ 25 or fewer employees will change. Ag Employers with 25 or fewer employees will be required to pay overtime for all hours after an agricultural employee works over 9 hours in a day or over 50 hours in a week.

The new requirements are part of the AB 1066 passed by legislature in 2016, this created a timetable for Ag workers to receive overtime pay so that they will gradually receive overtime pay on the same basis as workers in most other industries.
